

LIGHTON LOVE'S ARTS

Why Refined Young Women
Elope With Coachmen.

KATE UPSONS CLARK'S IDEAS

An Article of Intense Interest to All Mothers and Daughters--The Needs of Young People.

It is not, however, as if the young women of the day were not in the habit of eloping with coachmen. It is not, however, as if the young women of the day were not in the habit of eloping with coachmen. It is not, however, as if the young women of the day were not in the habit of eloping with coachmen.

It is not, however, as if the young women of the day were not in the habit of eloping with coachmen. It is not, however, as if the young women of the day were not in the habit of eloping with coachmen. It is not, however, as if the young women of the day were not in the habit of eloping with coachmen.

It is not, however, as if the young women of the day were not in the habit of eloping with coachmen. It is not, however, as if the young women of the day were not in the habit of eloping with coachmen. It is not, however, as if the young women of the day were not in the habit of eloping with coachmen.

It is not, however, as if the young women of the day were not in the habit of eloping with coachmen. It is not, however, as if the young women of the day were not in the habit of eloping with coachmen. It is not, however, as if the young women of the day were not in the habit of eloping with coachmen.

It is not, however, as if the young women of the day were not in the habit of eloping with coachmen. It is not, however, as if the young women of the day were not in the habit of eloping with coachmen. It is not, however, as if the young women of the day were not in the habit of eloping with coachmen.

It is not, however, as if the young women of the day were not in the habit of eloping with coachmen. It is not, however, as if the young women of the day were not in the habit of eloping with coachmen. It is not, however, as if the young women of the day were not in the habit of eloping with coachmen.

It is not, however, as if the young women of the day were not in the habit of eloping with coachmen. It is not, however, as if the young women of the day were not in the habit of eloping with coachmen. It is not, however, as if the young women of the day were not in the habit of eloping with coachmen.

It is not, however, as if the young women of the day were not in the habit of eloping with coachmen. It is not, however, as if the young women of the day were not in the habit of eloping with coachmen. It is not, however, as if the young women of the day were not in the habit of eloping with coachmen.

It is not, however, as if the young women of the day were not in the habit of eloping with coachmen. It is not, however, as if the young women of the day were not in the habit of eloping with coachmen. It is not, however, as if the young women of the day were not in the habit of eloping with coachmen.

It is not, however, as if the young women of the day were not in the habit of eloping with coachmen. It is not, however, as if the young women of the day were not in the habit of eloping with coachmen. It is not, however, as if the young women of the day were not in the habit of eloping with coachmen.

It is not, however, as if the young women of the day were not in the habit of eloping with coachmen. It is not, however, as if the young women of the day were not in the habit of eloping with coachmen. It is not, however, as if the young women of the day were not in the habit of eloping with coachmen.

It is not, however, as if the young women of the day were not in the habit of eloping with coachmen. It is not, however, as if the young women of the day were not in the habit of eloping with coachmen. It is not, however, as if the young women of the day were not in the habit of eloping with coachmen.

early evening. Enter into their sports yourselves, you careful, plodding father and mother. You may think that you have "no time" for such frivolities; but in after life it is not unlikely that you may look back and see, by the added light of the years between, that you might have afforded better to slight almost anything else than this.

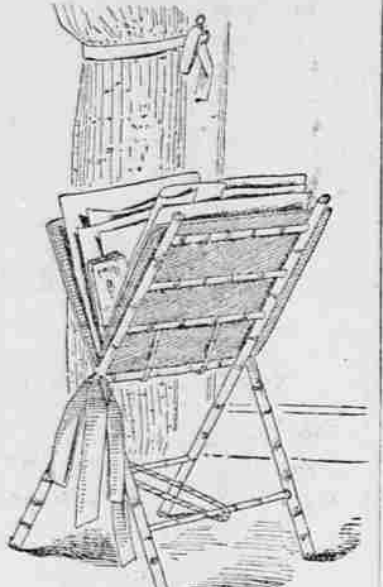

Kath Upson Clark.

A PRETTY FANCY.

Florence E. Tyng Describes a Tasteful
Holder for Periodicals and Papers.

Excellent provision may be made for loose papers and magazines in this way: Invest a dollar in a simple bamboo rack, and in the popular fashion of the day paint it with brilliant scarlet or deep yellow Japan paint. Only rich, full colors are well adapted to the black and white of ordinary literature gotten up in haste, and too apt to deposit a slight black dust on white or delicate tints.

The joints of the bamboo may be touched with gilding or with colored bronze, yielding an effect worthy extra pains and caretaking. A rich bow of scarlet or yellow ribbon to match the paint, tied at one side or both of the little rack, adds greatly to its appearance. A unique idea is to purchase several dozen tiny bells in various colors, to be bought for a few cents a dozen at any fancy goods shop, string these on a small silken cord to match the ribbon, and twist the cord about the several rods which form the rack; or it may be put about the lower rod only, making a row of jingling, bright bells like fringe at the bottom. What if they do suggest "The fair Ophelia," "Sweet bells jingled out of tune" or a gushing brooklet, babbling as perhaps may some of the loose sheets among the well kept contents of the little rack?

NEWSPAPER AND MAGAZINE RACK.

FLORENCE E. TYNG.

Maud Howe Elliott.

Maud Howe Elliott, not content with being a beauty and a belle, is making a decided impression on the literature of the day. The youngest child, the pet and darling of a literary household, her father one of the greatest philanthropists the world has ever known, her mother, poet and philosopher, as well as wit and woman of society, Maud Howe grew to womanhood in a stimulating atmosphere. As a young girl she was sought and caressed by society in the world of fashion and the world of letters.

The home of the Howes was cosmopolitan, and the best ornaments of the stately Beacon street residence in Boston were truly said to be the friends who frequented them. Art, travel, society, fashion, culture in all its varied phases, ministered to the beautiful girl whose hand even Victor Hugo esteemed it an honor to kiss, and whose loveliness was as swiftly recognized as was the prestige of her mother's fame and noble power. Out of all this subtle influence of life Mrs. Elliott has drawn the inspiration for her work in romantic fiction.

"A Newport Aqueduct" was the captivating title of her first published essay in fiction—a tentative effort put forth anonymously, and eagerly read by the critics. There was a new hand, a firm touch, and something in its fresh charm gave it peculiar success. Encouraged by this, Miss Howe gave to the world her first novel under her own name, "The San Rosario Rancho." There was work in this of great delicacy and intensity of feeling, and the scene where the lover reads unwittingly the silent pages of the diary kept in Venice by the girl he loves, believing she has asked him to read it, is a scene almost unsurpassed in current fiction. "Atalanta in the South" embodied the condensed experiences of a southern winter, and various tales and sketches have since then appeared from her pen.

Some three or four years ago Maud Howe became the wife of Mr. John Elliott, an English artist, whose power in portraiture and imaginative work is exceptional. An ideal head which he calls "A May Dream" has in it more than hints of the face of his beautiful wife. Mrs. Elliott is gifted to a rare degree with that indefinable charm one calls presence. She is tall, with a beautifully chiseled head and regular, expressive features; the hair of rich chestnut brown, its darker shades holding golden gleams, shades a low, broad brow; luminous eyes, changing with every emotion from deep blue to violet, and a face animated, laughing, thoughtful or serious in turn.

LILLIAN WHITING.

The Captain's Revenge.

Captain Mehun, of the P. and O. S. N. company, was a thoroughly good fellow, beloved alike by his officers and crew. His passengers both liked and respected him. He had always a kind word for everybody, but he never forgot to give a "Roland for an Oliver" when called upon to do so. I remember during one voyage there was a lady passenger on board who was very fond of making nasty remarks apparently to herself, but just loud enough to be heard by everybody present. One day at dinner Captain Mehun was carrying a very nice saddle of mutton, and, sailorlike, he certainly carved with rather a heavy hand. When a plate was handed to this lady, who I will call Lady M., she said to herself (but in a tone loud enough for everybody to hear), "A cartload! How I detest a cartload." Everybody looked at Captain Mehun, who had heard Lady M.'s remark as well as the rest of the company. He took no notice, however, but continued a sailor's yarn he had been relating as if he had heard nothing. After a short time, seeing that Lady M.—had nearly emptied her plate, Captain Mehun said in a very persuasive tone: "This is really a delicious saddle." Then addressing Lady M., continued: "I have a very prime cut here. Pray allow me to give your ladyship a small piece more."

"Thank you, Captain Mehun," replied Lady M. "As you say, it is very nice. I think you may give me the smallest piece more."

"Steward," said Captain Mehun, instantly, "be so kind and back Lady M.'s cart up again, if you please."

This remark simply sent the company into fits of laughter, much to the discomfort of Lady M. Verily, Captain Mehun had his revenge.—Tid-Bits.

MME. DE BARRIOS.

Of All New York's Young Widows and Matrons She Receives Most Attention.

No other young widow or young matron has attracted quite so much attention in New York this season as Mme. de Barrios. Her lavish entertainments have been the talk of the city, and among those who have been so fortunate as to be bidden to attend them, and her grand fancy dress ball, which took place a little before the beginning of Lent, has been talked of ever since. On that occasion Mme. de Barrios dressed to represent Cleopatra, and wore a demi-trained costume of pink satin covered with gauze sewn thick with jewels. There was a bordering of precious stones all around the low corsage, and she wore an authentic Egyptian headdress of gold, rubies and sapphires.

In her splendid house there are three parlors, and the decorations of flowers in each followed the general coloring—gold, orchids and daffodils in the first, La France and Mimosas in the second, and the great hall was all white and green, with roses and lilies, and the great hall was a mass of scarlet and green. Thousands of dollars were spent upon the flowers alone; but what is that to a woman who is the possessor of thirty millions?

Mme. de Barrios is a native of Guatemala, and is the widow of the ill-fated president of that turbulent country. After the tragedy that made her a widow she came to New York to live, and built her splendid home on Madison avenue. She was married at fourteen, and it is a surprise to see her stand by the side of her son and her beautiful young daughters and claim them as her own children, for she has a singularly girlish face and figure for the mother of a family. She is of a rich Spanish type of beauty, with extremely large and lustrous dark eyes and heavy black hair, and the most exquisite set of teeth possible to imagine, of that pearly transparent whiteness never seen except among the Spanish races. Her voice is low and musical and her manner charmingly natural.

Mme. de Barrios was named Aparicio before her marriage. Her sister of that same name lives with her, and her brother-in-law and his lovely wife have been living with her for some time, but left for Europe directly after the great ball. Mme. de Barrios has two daughters who promise to make a sensation in society as soon as they shall have finished their studies. The elder is a superb type of womanhood, with thick masses of glossy hair reaching below her waist, magnificent eyes and a splendidly symmetrical figure. The second one is thought by some to be even more beautiful, but both are certainly far beyond the average among the loveliest.

Mme. de Barrios has a selection of jewels so great that if she wore a new parure each day there would be more than enough for all the days in the year, but it is not often that she disfigures the exquisite contour of her neck with a necklace, and she never wears earrings. Mme. de Barrios dresses plainly but richly on all ordinary occasions, and generally in black when on the street or at church, with a decided penchant for fine laces, but when occasion demands she will wear the costliest fabrics, and rather inclined to the old Spanish fancies in the making up of her gowns.

AMORY GLADDEN.

Of Course He Was.

Early Saturday afternoon eight school-boys, all armed with guns and bows and arrows, who had been out in the country on a hunt, were coming down Cass avenue when a boy who didn't go met them and asked:

"Where's your game?"
"None o' yer bizness."
"Tramped all day in the snow and didn't get a thing! Didn't pay, did it?"
"It didn't, eh?" replied the leader of the band. "Oh, no—we are chumps, we are! We didn't get a shot at a bluejay, and lick a boy who was sweeping out a school house! And we didn't see more'n a million rabbit tracks and hear a squirrel bark! Come on, boys—he's jealous!"
—Detroit Free Press.

LILLIAN WHITING.

The Wrong Man.

Marshal Turrene, happening one hot day to be looking out of a window of his antechamber, a servant entered the room, and, deceived by his dress, mistook him for one of the under cooks. He came softly behind him, and with a hand which was not one of the lightest gave him a violent slap on the shoulder. The marshal instantly turned about, and the fellow, frightened out of his wits, beheld the face of his master. Down he dropped on his knees.
"Oh! my lord, I thought it was George."

OF COURSE.

"And you recommend and say that this oleomargarine is as good as or better than the natural butter?"
"Why, certainly," replied the butter vender. "The man who made it says it is, and surely your ladyship would rather take the word of an intelligent manufacturer than that of a senseless, unreasoning cow!"—Pfelegende Blatter.

RISE SUN
STOVE POLISH
A POLISH
SAVING LABOR, CLEANLINESS,
DURABILITY & CHEAPNESS, UNEQUALLED.
NO ODOR WHEN HEATED.

TEASDEL'S

SPRING STOCK

DAILY ARRIVALS

MEN'S AND BOYS'

CLOTHING,

BOOTS AND SHOES,

NEW STYLES

CHAMBRAYS,

NEW PATTERNS

DRESS GOODS,

EMBROIDERIES

ARRIVED.

PRICES

UNEQUALLED.

BIG DISCOUNT

ON HOODS.

LADIES' JACKETS,

ALL SIZES.

BIG REDUCTION

IN COATS.

CALL AT

TEASDEL'S.

THE CULLEN HOTEL

S. C. EWING, Proprietor.

Opened October 3d, 1887.

THE FINEST HOTEL IN THE WEST.

Rates, $3.00 per Day.

SPECIAL RATES TO TOURISTS.

WONDERLAND!

Second South, next to Collins.

TO-DAY and ALL THIS WEEK you can see, besides the many curious wonders,

ELIA EWING, 8 Feet Tall.

Doors Open from 1 to 10:30 p.m.

100. Admission 10c.

Friday, Ladies' Souvenir Day, Saturday, Children's Day.

UTAH BOOK &amp; STATIONERY

COMPANY,

SUCCESSORS TO

STATIONERY
& CO.
BOOKS
MAIN ST. DALLAS
PERIODICALS
RETAIL & WHOLESALE

STATEMENT OF INSURANCE COMPANIES

Represented by

HEBER J. GRANT &amp; CO.,

The Leading Insurance Agency of Utah.

People who insure should know the financial standing of all Companies, so that they have the Best. Here are ours:

ANNUAL STATEMENT	ANNUAL STATEMENT	ANNUAL STATEMENT
For the year ending December 31, 1890, of the condition of the	For the year ending December 31, 1890, of the condition of the	For the year ending December 31, 1890, of the condition of the
U. S. Branch of the Liverpool &amp; London &amp; Globe Insurance Co.	Home Insurance Company,	Hartford Fire Insurance Co.
Made to the secretary of the territory of Utah, in pursuance of an act relating to fire insurance companies, approved March 13, 1884.	Made to the secretary of the territory of Utah, in pursuance of an act relating to fire insurance companies, approved March 13, 1884.	Made to the secretary of the territory of Utah, in pursuance of an act relating to fire insurance companies, approved March 13, 1884.
1-Name of company and location. U. S. Branch of the Liverpool & London & Globe Insurance Co., 119 Broadway, New York, N. Y.	1-Name of company and location. Home Insurance Company, 119 Broadway, New York, N. Y.	1-Name of company and location. The Hartford Fire Insurance Company, 30 Trumbull street, Hartford, Conn.
2-The amount of capital stock is $3,000,000 00	2-The amount of capital stock is $3,000,000 00	2-The amount of capital stock is $3,000,000 00
3-The capital stock paid up is $3,000,000 00	3-The capital stock paid up is $3,000,000 00	3-The capital stock paid up is $3,000,000 00
4-The amount of its assets is $2,091,102 08	4-The amount of its assets is $2,091,102 08	4-The amount of its assets is $2,091,102 08
5-The net surplus over all liabilities is $7,406,597 36	5-The net surplus over all liabilities is $7,406,597 36	5-The net surplus over all liabilities is $7,406,597 36
6-The name of its attorney or agent for the territory of Utah, upon whom service of process in any civil action against said company may be made, Heber J. Grant, Salt Lake City.	6-The name of its attorney or agent for the territory of Utah, upon whom service of process in any civil action against said company may be made, Heber J. Grant, Salt Lake City.	6-The name of its attorney or agent for the territory of Utah, upon whom service of process in any civil action against said company may be made, Heber J. Grant, Salt Lake City.
7-The receipts during the year were $4,085,983 73	7-The receipts during the year were $4,085,983 73	7-The receipts during the year were $4,085,983 73
8-The expenditures during the year were $4,018,331 24	8-The expenditures during the year were $4,018,331 24	8-The expenditures during the year were $4,018,331 24
STATE OF NEW YORK, ss. COUNTY OF NEW YORK, ss. Daniel A. Heald, president of the Home Insurance Company, being duly sworn, deposes and says that he is the above described officer of said company, and that the foregoing statement of the general condition of said company on said thirty-first day of December, is correct according to the best of his information, knowledge and belief, respectively.	STATE OF NEW YORK, ss. COUNTY OF NEW YORK, ss. Daniel A. Heald, president of the Home Insurance Company, being duly sworn, deposes and says that he is the above described officer of said company, and that the foregoing statement of the general condition of said company on said thirty-first day of December, is correct according to the best of his information, knowledge and belief, respectively.	STATE OF NEW YORK, ss. COUNTY OF NEW YORK, ss. Daniel A. Heald, president of the Home Insurance Company, being duly sworn, deposes and says that he is the above described officer of said company, and that the foregoing statement of the general condition of said company on said thirty-first day of December, is correct according to the best of his information, knowledge and belief, respectively.
Subscribed and sworn to before me this 10th day of March, A.D. 1891.	Subscribed and sworn to before me this 10th day of March, A.D. 1891.	Subscribed and sworn to before me this 10th day of March, A.D. 1891.
ELIJAH SELLS, Secretary of Utah Territory.	ELIJAH SELLS, Secretary of Utah Territory.	ELIJAH SELLS, Secretary of Utah Territory.
Phoenix Insurance Company,	American Fire Insurance Co.
Made to the Secretary of the Territory of Utah, in pursuance of an act relating to fire insurance companies, approved March 13, 1884.	Made to the Secretary of the Territory of Utah, in pursuance of an act relating to fire insurance companies, approved March 13, 1884.
1-Name of company and location. Phoenix Insurance Company, 38 West street, Philadelphia, Pa.	1-Name of company and location. The American Fire Insurance Company, 38 West street, Philadelphia, Pa.
2-The amount of capital stock is $2,000,000 00	2-The amount of capital stock is $2,000,000 00
3-The capital stock paid up is $2,000,000 00	3-The capital stock paid up is $2,000,000 00
4-The amount of its assets is $2,000,000 00	4-The amount of its assets is $2,000,000 00
5-The net surplus over all liabilities is $2,000,000 00	5-The net surplus over all liabilities is $2,000,000 00
6-The name of its attorney or agent for the territory of Utah, upon whom service of process in any civil action against said company may be made, Heber J. Grant, Salt Lake City.	6-The name of its attorney or agent for the territory of Utah, upon whom service of process in any civil action against said company may be made, Heber J. Grant, Salt Lake City.
7-The receipts during the year were $2,000,000 00	7-The receipts during the year were $2,000,000 00
8-The expenditures during the year were $2,000,000 00	8-The expenditures during the year were $2,000,000 00
STATE OF PENNSYLVANIA, ss. COUNTY OF PHILADELPHIA, ss. George H. Burdick, secretary of the Phoenix Insurance Company, being duly sworn, deposes and says that he is the above described officer of said company, and that the foregoing statement of the general condition of said company on said thirty-first day of December, is correct according to the best of his information, knowledge and belief, respectively.	STATE OF PENNSYLVANIA, ss. COUNTY OF PHILADELPHIA, ss. George H. Burdick, secretary of the Phoenix Insurance Company, being duly sworn, deposes and says that he is the above described officer of said company, and that the foregoing statement of the general condition of said company on said thirty-first day of December, is correct according to the best of his information, knowledge and belief, respectively.
Subscribed and sworn to before me this 13th day of March, A.D. 1891.	Subscribed and sworn to before me this 13th day of March, A.D. 1891.
ELIJAH SELLS, Secretary of Utah Territory.	ELIJAH SELLS, Secretary of Utah Territory.
NIAGARA FIRE INSURANCE COMPANY,
Made to the Secretary of the Territory of Utah, in pursuance of an act relating to fire insurance companies, approved March 13, 1884.
1-Name of company and location. The Niagara Fire Insurance Company, 105 and 107, Broadway, New York.
2-The amount of capital stock is $500,000 00
3-The capital stock paid up is $500,000 00
4-The amount of its assets is $500,000 00
5-The net surplus over all liabilities is $500,000 00
6-The name of its attorney or agent for the territory of Utah, upon whom service of process in any civil action against said company may be made, Heber J. Grant, Salt Lake City.
7-The receipts during the year were $500,000 00
8-The expenditures during the year were $500,000 00
STATE OF NEW YORK, ss. COUNTY OF NEW YORK, ss. Thomas F. Goodrich, vice-president, and George C. Howe, secretary of the Niagara Fire Insurance Company, being duly sworn, deposes and says that they are the above described officers of said company, and that the foregoing statement of the general condition of said company on said thirty-first day of December, is correct according to the best of their information, knowledge and belief, respectively.
Subscribed and sworn to before me this 26th day of January, A.D. 1891.
ELIJAH SELLS, Secretary of Utah Territory.
SG &amp; GE BANK.		